

10 Reasons the "Holocaust" Never Happened

1. The World Almanac reported that the world's Jewish population was slightly larger just after the war than it was just before the war
2. No Bodies: Nobody ever found anywhere near six million bodies
3. No Gas Chambers: Nobody ever found a single gas chamber capable of killing humans, nevermind six million of them
4. No Crematoria: Nobody ever found crematoria capable of incinerating six million bodies
5. No Written Orders were ever discovered ordering the deaths of Jews
6. No Mention of a "Holocaust" in historical works like Churchill's six-volume history of the war, The Second World War
7. Camp Workers and Residents living near the camps can not recall anyone going missing
8. Red Cross Representatives Were Stationed in the Camps and none ever reported a "holocaust"
9. Jewish Elites Have Repeatedly Cried "Six Million": After nearly every major European conflict of the 19th and 20th centuries, Jews cried "holocaust"
10. Six Million is the Number of Jews That Were Transported to the Camps, yet the camps were full at the end of the war

Notes on the above

1. The World Almanac Reports: The World Almanac reported that there were roughly 15.3 million Jews in the world in 1933 when Judea famously declared war on Germany and a little under 15.8 million in 1948, just after the war. According to most sources, there are still roughly 15-18 million Jews in the world. And that number has held steady for over a century.

3. No Gas Chambers: Although there were gas chambers at the camps, none capable of killing humans en masse has ever been found. The chambers found in the camps today were used for delousing the prisoners clothing and bedding. No one disputes this nor does anyone claim they were used for gassing people. Further, the Zyklon B supply was exhausted circa 1942-3 after which time most of the gassings were reported to have occurred. The Germans switched to steam for delousing purposes. Another important question: if they were in the camps to be exterminated why were the Germans so interested in their comfort and routinely delousing their clothing and bedding?

4. No Crematoria: There were crematoria in at least one of the camps, and they were used for cremating bodies -- people did die in the camps from accidents, natural causes, and diseases like typhus and it was dangerous to bury them in camps that had high water tables, so they were cremated instead.

5. No Written Order: No shred of a paper trail has ever been found. Given that the Reich was notoriously assiduous in matters of record-keeping and recorded every order in triplicate it's hard to believe that something so important was accomplished with zero paperwork. Eventually, a document was submitted purporting to be proof of a written order but it was quickly dismissed as a Soviet forgery. Apparently, it was written with German vocabulary -- but Russian grammar and syntax.

6. No Mention of a "Holocaust" in Historical Works. Winston Churchill authored a roughly 4,500 page, six-volume history of World War II called The Second World War -- he never mentions a deliberate attempt to exterminate Jews. Other men who played a major role in World War Two, like Dwight Eisenhower and Charles de Gaulle, never mentioned a "holocaust" of Jews in their memoirs. In fact, the term didn't even come into vogue until Kurt Vonnegut coined the term in his 1969 novel Slaughterhouse Five. He, of course, was writing about the very real holocaust (Greek for "burnt offering") of civilians in the allied firebombing of Dresden.

7. Camp Workers and Residents around the camp don't recall a "holocaust". Although we've all heard the stories from Jews of having their friends and relatives killed before their eyes or having narrowly escaped death themselves, few, if any, non-Jews have ever corroborated these tales. As I understand, the Nuremberg Trials of "war criminals" used the same small number of Jewish "witnesses" for every case.

8. Red Cross Representatives Were Stationed in the Camps and None Ever Reported Malfeasance. Further, at the insistence of the Germans, the Red Cross often sent teams in to inspect the camps and they routinely reported that there were no violations of the early Geneva Conventions. As a side note, there is an apocryphal report floating around the web which states that roughly 275,000 Jews died in the camps, most toward the end of the war when typhus hit central Europe hard. Others, of course, died from natural causes.

9. Several times over the centuries Jewish Elites Have Cried Six Million in order to fleece their flock. Including a famous declaration of a holocaust after the First World War.

Some of the many claimed "holocausts" before WWII

10. Six Million Jews Were Transported to the Camps, yet the camps were full at the end of the war. This one is self-evident, if six million were interned and they were all more or less present at the end of the war (except for the natural number of deaths in a population that size over six years) then how can one accept the claim of six million dead.

Conclusion

Given the above, why does the establishment inundate us with the "holocaust" narrative? The answer is simple. The Western establishment is dominated by a relatively small handful of Jewish Oligarchs who are trying to destroy all opposition to the Jew World Order. The "holocaust" narrative is intended to induce guilt in Whites in an effort to prevent us from resisting Jewish Rule.
